THE ONLINE LEARNING EXPERIENCE

Your Digital Path to Silicon Valley Success

The entire Online MBA program is built around an integrative online portfolio and dashboard that empowers students to visualize, design, and curate their personal and professional development.

In conjunction with two on-ground weekend residencies, remote networking opportunities, constructive personal reflections, and peer-to-peer review, this cumulative experience will expose you to challenging but vital feedback and help strengthen the skills you need to become a pioneering force well beyond our business school.

Reflections: You and five anonymous peers will assess your strengths and weaknesses according to our provided leadership surveys, providing valuable insight from your own evolving perspective while also giving you an outsider's viewpoint.

"Challenges in": Taken during your last two quarters and extending into the program's second weekend-long residency, these are case-style classes designed to challenge and refine your approach to critical business tasks and obstacles.

Co-Curriculars: These hosted events and skills-based activities help you utilize opportunities to learn from experts in the field and apply new insights to real-world business exchanges, and they are carefully curated to help you progress toward achieving your personal development goals.

An Incomparable Online Experience:

From the moment you enroll in our Online MBA program to the moment you shake the last hand at your final residency, you will be fully immersed in our proprietary online learning environment and SVP dashboard.

This comprehensive toolset gives you mobile access to all and enables you to coordinate with your instructors, Student Success Coordinator, and cohort members anytime, anywhere.

The SVP dashboard serves as a targeted achievement and reflections manager as well as an expandable portfolio of professional skills. Throughout the program, the dashboard is where you'll track co-curriculars, explore how individual courses relate to critical domains, and continuously refine your trajectory toward becoming a standout business leader.

More importantly, this is where you will find the opportunity to collaborate with your cohort and initiate requests for feedback on your co-curriculars, reflections, and personal work products.

Track Your Trajectory

As you input specific co-curricular activities—whether a notable task executed on the job, completion of assigned coursework, or participation in a Santa Clara-hosted program activity—the dashboard will track all of your efforts and specific badges and tie them back to one of four primary domains:

- Principled Leadership
- Communication and Team Building
- Data Analysis and Interpretation
- Innovation and Entrepreneurial Mindset
